All Aboard—1967!

PROFESSOR of chemistry at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md., Dr. Donald H. Andrews (above), believes that within 20 to 30 years passengers may be whisked across the U. S. in less than an hour, by way of an airtight underground tunnel. The tube could be blasted from Baltimore to San Francisco by using a "disintegrator atom gun," said the professor, who claims that modern engineers can design rail vehicles that could travel at thousands of miles an hour across the country. A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

A British officer was shot dead in Pola, the Yugoslav legation in Rome was partly wrecked and insulting remarks were hurled at the American and British Embassies during Italy's "day of mourning." The nation observed ten minutes of silent protest on the treaty.

Tension in Palestine reached a new level. A military court sentenced three terrorists to die by hanging and a fourth to life imprisonment. The Jewish Agency and Jewish National Council rejected a British ultimatum demanding co-operation against terrorism. Both the Arabs and Zionists spurned the latest British proposals.

Life in Britain was disorganized by cuts in electric power. The first day of stringent rationing was largely observed, but more drastic cuts were predicted. "We have come through greater emergencies and much more critical times," Prime Minister Attlee said in appealing to the nation for co-operation. The Labor Government weathered the storm during debate in the Commons. In this country, the shortage of natural gas has thrown more than 200,000 persons out of work. The United Electrical, Radio and

BUCKS COUNCIL IS AMONG THOSE HONORED

Carversville Man Was Stationed at Wallasey, England, During War

TABLET IS UNVEILED

DOYLESTOWN, Feb. 11—A plumber's mechanic was one of those honored recently by residents of Wallasey, England, and Mayor B. G. King, of that town.

The localite so honored is Adam W. Crouthamel, Jr., of Wismer Rd., near Carversville. During World War II, Crouthamel served with an ordinance unit of the U. S. Army commanded by Lieut. Colonel Earl H. Zwingle, Legion of Merit, prior to taking part in the invasion of Europe.

Many friendships were made between the U. S. soldiers and the residents of Wallasey who, although harassed by rationing restrictions and having suffered much loss of life and destruction of property from enemy air attacks, did what they could to afford hospitality and entertainment to the American troops.

Doylestown's Burgess, George C. Butler has received a letter from the Mayor's Parlour, Town Hall, Wallasey, England (Mayor King), informing him of the unveiling of a memorial tablet commemorating "All America Week" in Wallasey recently. Mayor King informs Burgess Butler that Wallasey "is proud of Soldier Crouthamel's service" in that English town.

During "All America Week" in Wallasey, the American ordinance company presented to the then mayor of Wallasey, a silk U. S. flag for the residents of the borough by the U. S. Army.

WOMEN OF MOOSE

A business meeting of Bristol Chapter, No. 763, Women of the Moose, will be held this evening at eight o'clock in the Moose Home.

MUCH TOO MUCH

Reports from Washington that a secret conference of leading Republicans agreed upon a $32 billion budget for the National government are profoundly disturbing.

This figure is far too high. Uncle Sam simply does not have the money in sight to spend on so lavish a basis. There is one way, and only one way, by which it can be done. That is by further juggling of currency, credits and debts — which is to say, by making yet another whirl in inflation, already rapidly reaching the runaway stage.

The sum is almost as much as the entire national earnings of one year in the early thirties. It is about 45 per cent of what for many years was considered the normal national income. It is about 20 per cent of the current estimates of last year's grossly inflated earnings.

What percentage does it represent of the income of the coming year?

Despite all the variety of predictions, it is wholly impossible to make a reasonable estimate. If we have a recurrence of recent labor strife, national production will suffer and thereby greatly reduce the earnings.

On the other hand, a budget at that level would be strongly inflationary; and inflation multiplies the apparent value of earnings. The equivalent of a real value of $100 billions in earnings might be made, by inflation, to look like $200 billions.

There is another factor. If tariff experts are only even 10 per cent right, the stage is set for a severe reaction resulting from the appearance of cheap foreign imports in scores of lines of production, which would disrupt all American industry and thereby greatly reduce national income.

What all this boils down to is that a $32 billion budget might be nearly 100 per cent of national earnings in a very bad year, 50 per cent of a moderately bad one, and 20 per cent of the "best" (meaning most strongly inflated) year possible to imagine.

DOYLESTOWN, Feb. 11—At the opening of Grand Jury sessions, in the court house yesterday, Elwood Eltenger, Hulmeville, was appointed foreman of the Grand Jury.

Sentences were imposed by Judge Hiram H. Keller upon four Doylestown youths, who pleaded guilty to charges of holding-up and brutally beating L. Ray VanSant, West Oakland avenue, after they had given VanSant a "lift." They admitted throwing him out of the car on Purlong-Edison highway.

COUNCIL CONSIDERS SEVERAL PROBLEMS UP FOR SOLUTION

Adopt Budget, Police Ask Raise, Talk About Snow Plow, Unpaid Taxes

HEAR POLICE REPORT

Order Cremation of Bonds Incorrectly Printed In 1921

Adoption of a budget for the year 1947, purchase of a snow plow, regulation of junk yards, temporary regulations of parking of automobiles, first reading of a tax ordinance, higher pay for borough policemen, and more police officers were among the questions given consideration by borough council last night.

The new member of council, James W. Eagan, named to fill the unexpired term of Edward Mulligan resigned, as a member from the fourth ward, took the oath of office before Burgess Jacob C. Schmidt, Sr. Eagan was assigned to the seat formally occupied by Mulligan and was appointed to the same committees of which Mulligan had been a member.

Council meeting was attended for the first time by Harold F. Hunter, newly-elected borough treasurer, who presented a very comprehensive report of the borough's financial condition at this time.

Burgess Schmidt and John Leslie Kilscoyne, Esq., also attended the session.

Police committee reported 10 arrests. One held for court, six fined, one case continued and two discharged. There were 119 incandescent lights reported out and two are lights. Radio car answered 91 alarms and was driven 3,586 miles. There were 29 parking meter violations and the collections from the parking meters totaled $867.49. The number of lodgers given shelter was 119.

Councilman William Pearson, chairman of street committee, informed council that as soon as weather conditions permit, the wording "Slow-School" will be painted on the highways in the vicinity of all schools. He also reported that new post signs with the same wording are to replace those signs which are broken. Signs informing that the legalized speed in the borough is 25 miles per hour have been placed at all entrances to the borough.

Councilman Roche asked about the proposed regulation of junk yards and was informed by the borough engineer.

Police Guard Roads In Effort To Catch Convicts

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 11—(INS)—Every highway leading from Philadelphia was carefully guarded today as police sought two long-term convicts still at large more than 24 hours after a five-man break from the Philadelphia County Prison.

The fugitives — William Sutton and Frederick Tenuto — were described as the worst members of the quintet that went over the wall to freedom.

Sutton, known to police as "Slick Willie," was serving a life term as a fourth offender. The 46-year-old bank robber had five prison breaks on his record before yesterday's escape, and was foiled in at least one other attempt. He reportedly engineered a 12-man break from the Eastern Penitentiary in Philadelphia in 1945.

Tenuto, 32, was serving 20 to 40 years for robbery and second degree murder. His bid for freedom yesterday was his third within five years.

Three other convicts who fled with Tenuto and Sutton after overpowering a prison guard were captured within a few hours. They were David Aikens, 51; Clarence Klinedinst, 38, and Spencer Waldon, 37.

All of the quintet were veteran jail-breakers, and all but Waldon had participated in the "tunnel" escape from eastern penitentiary.

Police believe the men might have been aided by two other fugitives from the law—David Almeida and Francis Smith, who are wanted for the slaying of a policeman in a super-market holdup less than two weeks ago.

Tenuto, police said, chiseled his lock off his cell and Waldon's, stabbed and overpowered a guard, and then freed the other three men. They stole ladders from the prison basement and used another guard as a shield to make their way to the prison wall.

EDISON AS AN EXAMPLE

The one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Thomas Alva Edison on February 11 will be noted wherever the electric light is known. Mankind has been slow to acknowledge the greatness of Edison, but year by year the public pays increasing homage to his memory on the date of his birth.

From humble beginnings as a "butcher" selling cigars and candy on trains, and later as a railroad telegrapher, he became one of the most noted scientists in history. His inventions are numerous, but he is known chiefly as the wizard of light. A tireless worker, he referred to the fact that he lived two or three ordinary lives measured by the hours of the working day, and in this he stands as an example to a social age that is not averse to shirking work.

It seems long ago that on the blackboard of every school was emblazoned the motto, "There is no excellence without great labor." To Edison there was more pleasure in pursuit than in possession. No sooner had his great analytical mind perfected one invention than he turned to another.

To bring forth light in darkness was wizardry that would have placed Edison among the immortals in any age of the world. But so commonplace has become electricity that few stop to honor the great discoverers. Franklin, flying his kite into a storm cloud, is a figure to conjure with, but a commercialized society, always ready to receive and exploit, is not entirely willing to give honor to the patience and toil that has brought forth the inventions that have made the last seven or eight decades the marvel of all time.

It will seem to many, as they join in tribute to the memory of Edison on the one hundredth anniversary of his birth, that the lesson of his life lies in his singleness of purpose, his unceasing industry, and his triumph over obstacles and failures.

GRAIN OF SALT

The prospect of going the next fourteen winters without an overcoat hardly would please denizens of the northern latitudes as well as some of those who reside farther south. From the viewpoint of millions of men there is something about an overcoat, but as Robert Miller, 76-year-old resident of Racine, Wis., sees it, there is something about going without an overcoat. He has been doing it since 1933 and only occasionally does he wear a hat.

Miller says he obtained the recipe for immunity from cold years ago from Indians in Nebraska who tipped him off that a large pinch of salt, placed to melt in the mouth, would keep him warm. When he recalled the Indians' suggestion in 1933 and decided to put it to a test, "I felt such a glow of warmth," he reminisces, "that I haven't worn an overcoat since."

Of course, his theory of immunity to cold may be taken with at least a grain of salt by those who prefer to wear an overcoat.

Turn this into terms of days of work. The very least which the working people of America can expect under such a budget is that for two months of the year they will be working, not for themselves nor their "boss", but for Uncle Sam.

If times are hard, it might be that they will be working six months or more — for what? To keep the Washington bureaucrats living in clover!

By no stretch of the imagination can a budget be said to be realistic which probably couldn't work even in the most advantageous circumstance; and which makes no provision whatever for anything going wrong.

Does this budget represent a fair attempt on the part of the Republican Party to live up to the campaign promises of last year which put the Party in power?

It is very doubtful that the rank and file of American voter will believe so. It is still less doubtful that those interested in industrial and agricultural production, under the principles of free economy, will accept it as such.

As matters stand, the budget represents a complete victory for the White House. Minus the British Loan, for example, it is about identical with what the President asked last year.

It is far from being a coincidence that simultaneously with the announcement of this "secret" agreement supposed to have been reached by Republican leaders, Democratic National Chairman Flannegan opened his boom for the re-election of President Truman.

From the patronage-minded point of view of the leadership of the Democratic Party, those who learned their politics as members of the Pendergast gang in Missouri, a national budget is part of their campaign fund.

To them what all this means is that, on the face of this rumored agreement, they have talked the Republicans into letting them have the spending of nearly four times as much money as the late President Roosevelt ever disbursed in a single peacetime year.

It means, for example, that they will continue to be able to finance a million Democratic party workers, not out of their own party war chest as ought to be required, but as wholly unnecessary additions to the Federal payroll.

It is idle to argue that Congress will force half a million or so of them to be dropped. This has been tried before and won't work. So long as the Administration has the money, under its budget, what it does is perfectly simple and inescapable: as fast as superfluous employees are fired from one job, they are re-hired somewhere else in the government.

An easy experiment in mental arithmetic can show the appalling size of the budget supposedly agreed upon by Republican leaders.

Just imagine what their reaction would have been to such a budget if it had been proposed by a New Deal President without the two factors which have clouded the picture — without last year's budget in the background, and without the extra items which the President was clever enough to include "for trading purposes".

Just picture the indignation and anxiety which would have been expressed by Republican spokesmen if a Democratic President, at a critical and uncertain period such as this, had walked in boldly and from a clear sky had suggested that his party be entrusted with a sum that could easily prove to be half of the total earnings of the whole country — with a Presidential year in the offing!

If you can't quite imagine that, then merely recall what Republican leaders were saying about national spending when the budget was running under $10 billions a year, and when the national debt was only a small fraction of its present size.

This doesn't prove the Republican spokesmen were wrong then. On the contrary, they were right. Fiscal history, and the advance of inflation, have amply verified their predictions.

But it does shed appalling light on the rumors of a secret agreement to consent to so vast a budget in this most uncertain period in our history.

Much more is at stake than the ambitions of individual men, or, for that matter, even of the future of the Republican Party.

The destiny of the American nation, and possibly its very existence, are at issue.

Perkasie Borough council, in session last week, designated Harvey J. Wambold to serve as chief of police in place of James Schatz, who will serve the borough as part-time police officer. His schedule calls for 30 hours a week at a pay of one dollar an hour.

Schatz was appointed a part-time officer in 1924, when police service was inaugurated. He was the only policeman to serve in Perkasie since that time.

A month ago when council made provision for the employment of a full-time officer, Wambold was elected to serve the full-time job at $40 per week with an additional allowance for expenses of operating his own car.

Russell Ulmer, the policeman at Menlo Park, has been engaged for the seventh night each week.

Wambold also was named building inspector to succeed Frank O'Rourke, whose resignation will become effective on April 1st.

Duties of the building inspector include an interpretation of the zoning ordinance and acting upon applications for building permits.

Beautifying Your Shoulders

Actress Yvonne De Carlo practices swinging on a bar. This is an excellent exercise to develop the shoulders.

By HELEN FOLLETT

WITH all the beautifying efforts that seem necessary to light the oncoming birthdays, it is necessary to give a thought now and then to shoulders which, if lovely, smooth and fine-lined, contribute enormously to the swiftest silhouette. Do your best, but it will be a long search for a formal that does not display them.

To develop the roundness and beautiful contour of the shoulders it is necessary to exercise the deltoid muscles. This can be accomplished by stretching exercises and arm swinging. Swimming is ideal for the purpose and tennis helps a lot, too. Chinning the bar and other exercise is possible to those who attend gym classes. The entire weight of the body is assumed by the shoulders and develops strong musculature of chest, shoulders, upper back and arms fairly quickly.

An Easy Exercise

What about shoulders that carry too much adipose under? An easy exercise is to shrug them. Sit in a straight-backed chair. Hands on the hips, body erect. Lift the elbows as high as you can, stretching the body at the waist line, raising the shoulders within an inch of your ear lobes. Keep the head level and balanced.

These movements must not be casual. Muscles must work and work hard if fat cells are to go into a state of dissolution.

Another exercise that will help put Mrs. Plumpie in form again:

Take the erect position, spinal column stretched full length. Fold the fingers inside the palms of the hands. Drop the hands at the sides of the body. Lift them slowly, with muscle pull, until they are straight out in front from the shoulders. Fling them far back over your head, as if you were about to hurl a heavy weight.

After five minutes of these movements, sit tall in a straight-backed chair, circle your arms in their sockets.

YARDLEY

The week-end was spent by Miss Dorothy Thompson, a senior at New Jersey College for Women, New Brunswick, N. J., with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Thompson, here. Miss Alice Thompson, Ursinus College, passed the mid-semester vacation with her parents.

Mrs. John Kidder is under treatment in Mercer Hospital, Trenton, N. J., following an operation.

Inside Your Congress

What A Nerve!

—by—

SAMUEL B. PETTEGILL
"The Gentleman from Indiana"

Our bureaucrats are like the Bourbons of France. They learn nothing, and forget nothing. The National Labor Relations Board has the sense to tell us that the Wagner Act "has served the public by decreasing labor strife."

In the light of the facts, this takes cast iron immorality. Don't they ever read government reports on labor strife? In 1946, the number of man days lost through labor strife broke every record. 113,000,000 man days of labor were lost. Labor strife last year directly affected 4,700,000 workers and millions more who were forced to be idle against their will.

It is interesting to compare this money loss with the wealth destroyed in a great city fire like the San Francisco earthquake and fire in 1906. The loss at San Francisco was put at half a billion dollars. 29,000 buildings were destroyed. Yet half a billion was less than the loss of wages alone last year through strikes.

The National Labor Relations Board asks Congress to give it more money!

And here is our ex-guardian, Chester Bowles of OPA (which still has 15,000 on its payroll) support for brother Nathan — that more wages can be now paid without raising prices. How strong Bowles was when his propaganda engine was threatening us with ruin if we allowed OPA to die. We allowed it died. And falling prices from full production are proving him a false prophet.

As we emerge from the smoke, we can see the tyranny that was closing down on America. One of its worst thumb-screws was dragging people clear across the continent to Washington to stand trial or plead for mercy. In a rent case in Oregon, in which Bowles tried to send to jail a woman tied down at home with the care of a paralytic, U. S. District Judge McCulloch asked, "How could this woman have provided the means or even been physically able to betake herself and witnesses to Washington, D. C., to try on the justice of the order in her case?"

The New York Central Railroad has laid off 7,000 maintenance-of-way men. The railroad lost money last year despite the heaviest peacetime traffic in its history! It is caught in the squeeze between government fixed wage costs and government traffic income.

It is tough luck for the men laid off. In the soft coal industry, the number of miners has gone down from 700,000 to 400,000. And, because coal goes up in price, the railroads are now ordering locomotives 95% of which are oil burning. The harder and oftener the bureaucrats try to repeal economic law, the more they fail.

★ More LIGHT To LIVE By ★

make the lighting of a room an integral part of its decoration, to give us all more light to live by, are two aims that are being met closer and closer together by the experts who work in the lighting field.

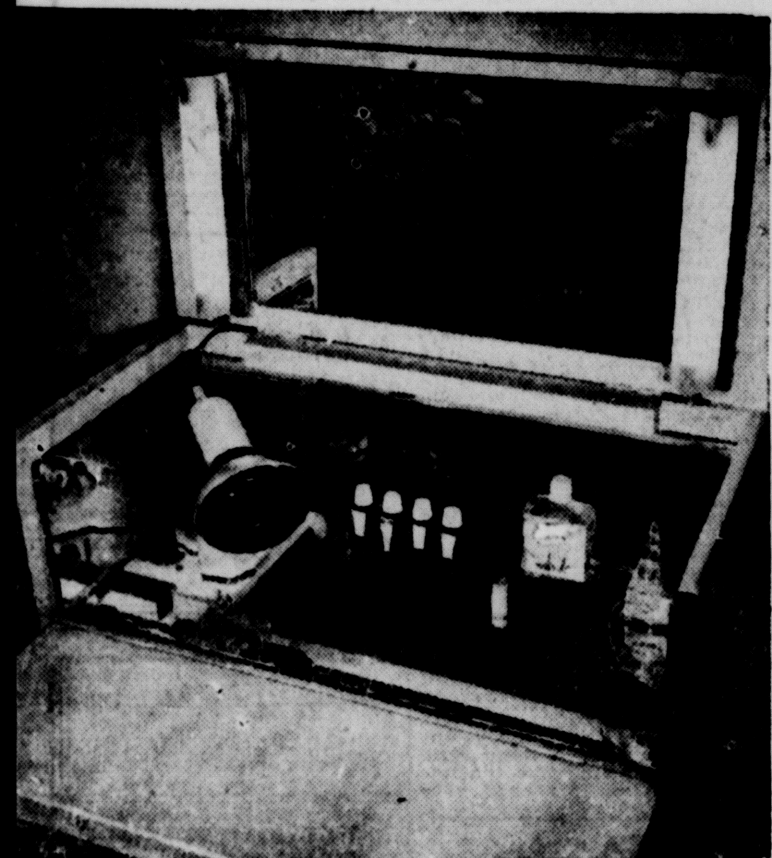

The latest achievements in this field, and their possible applications in the home, were shown recently in New York in an exhibit of rooms: a bedroom-den, a bathroom, study and a common television-living room.

The basic idea, according to the designers, architects and stylists, was to provide illumination without an apparent source; that is, to provide effective and efficient lighting without having fixtures, bulbs or incandescent tubes hit you in the eye. A great deal of use was made of simple lighting strips hidden above valances, in bookcases, kitchen cabinets and similar places.

The exhibit presented many practical ideas for home lighting, all of which were said to be within the grasp of the average home owner. Some of them are pictured here.

Fluorescent Lamps in Tops of wall cabinets and behind valances provide general indirect illumination in this attractive kitchen, with direct light on work areas from fluorescent tubes recessed in cabinet bottoms.

Lifted Cover of this built-in vanity discloses shielded fluorescent light on each side of mirror. Infra-red lamp, left, speeds hair-drying.

Here the Bedroom is converted into a den, with bed folded into wall. As built-in desk is opened, shielded fluorescent lights come on.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

THERE are well over 75 types of fish currently available to the American housewife. These range in type from the delicate frogs leg to the mackerel. Then, there are always the shell fish, oysters, clams, crabs, lobsters, shrimp, and the lesser known muscles.

Most people who say they do not care for fish have probably never run through the complete list, for somewhere in the imposing array of both fresh and salt water varieties there has to be satisfaction for everyone's taste. Fresh fish is now so plentiful that the price is right, and the nourishment to be derived from this food is frequently shown by medical and scientific authorities.

Fish can be prepared in any manner to please your palate, according to the A & P Service for Home-Makers. They can be broiled, boiled, baked, fried, stewed, eaten raw and put into soups. Take your pick of preparation and then pick the fish that will lend itself most readily to the type of cooking you wish to use. Improvements in transportation and additional equipment released to the food industry since the end of the war have made it possible for fresh fish to be delivered quickly and in greater quantities than ever before. The speed of the system guarantees a fresh product as well as a greater diversification of type, for even the most perishable seafood can be moved from its natural habitat today.

During the Lenten season fish will be more important than ever before to the American home-maker for the varieties that will be available will insure her being able to please every member of the family.

For Sunday dinner try cherry-stone clams on the half shell, broiled halibut, creamed potatoes, cole slaw, chili sauce, brown bread, followed by rice custard and coffee.

DISAGREE ON RENT CONTROL AT SENATE HEARING

EXECUTIVE VICE-PRESIDENT of the National Association of Real Estate Boards Herbert U. Nelson (left), Chicago, is shown as he told the Senate Banking Committee, in Washington, that only an "across-the-board" rent increase will compensate landlords for the losses they have suffered. Shortly afterward, James B. Carey (right), secretary-treasurer of the CIO, blasted the threatened 10 percent increase in rent ceilings and called for the ouster of Maj. Gen. Philip Fleming as temporary controls administrator. (International Soundphoto)

THE CAPITOL WHIRL

A Digest of Things Political Occurring At Harrisburg

By International News Service

HARRISBURG, Feb. 6 (INS)—The sincerity shown by Gov. James H. Duff in his speeches to various private organizations holding meetings at the State Capitol has won for him much respect from his audiences. Newsmen covering Duff's speeches have found that the sandy-haired chief executive leaves his audiences almost spellbound. His blunt, straight-forward way of presenting a point leaves no doubt as to his position on the subject he is discussing. He often apologizes to his audiences for speaking so long but draws chuckles from his listeners when he explains he made so many speeches during the 1946 campaign that he is in good form.

Duff has another courtesy which impresses audiences. When he enters a room while a meeting is in progress he usually tells the chairman he would like to listen to the discussion for a short time. He is then able to discuss the group's problems and recommend solutions.

A large Linden tree south of the State Museum in Capitol Park has been uprooted and removed by Department of Property and Supplies workers. During the course of the project many "sidewalk superintendents" were on hand to witness the work. Removal of trees from Capitol Park or work on the exterior of the various buildings always attracts scores of spectators.

Workmen have begun erecting a wooden covering for the sculptured figures at the central entrance to the main capitol building to help preserve them from the rigors of winter. The world famous statuary, sculptured shortly after the turn of the century by George Grey Barnard, a native of Bellefonte, have been damaged by the weather. Deputy Secretary of Property and Supplies Frank Hoffman explained that some of the statues have been cracked and water freezing in the breaks caused additional damage. He explained that four or five weeks would be required to complete the wooden covering. In the spring, a preservative fluid will be applied to help prevent further damage. Hoffman added, One group of statues represents the spiritual burdens carried by man while the other depicts humanity advancing through the inspiration of work and brotherhood. Barnard sculptured the statuary out of Italian cararra marble in France. The statuary, which cost more than $180,000, was dedicated in 1911. Barnard, born in 1863, died nine years ago and is buried in Harrisburg.

Rep. Charles H. Brunner, Jr. (R) Montgomery, who pushed the Anti-Silt Bill in the 1945 session of the General Assembly, plans to introduce a measure this year to eliminate roadside signs and billboards from state-maintained highways. In a speech to the Pennsylvania Roadside Council, which has pledged to support the bill, Brunner compared the so-called "pollution" of highways with the dirty stream problem.

Few persons realize it but Gov. James H. Duff is always under close scrutiny of State Policemen when he speaks at a public meeting. Several troopers in plain clothes accompany Duff to the meetings and always assume advantageous positions in the rooms where they watch every movement of the audience.

MAN RAISES HIS ARMS ABOVE HIS HEAD FOR FIRST TIME IN YEARS

A few days ago a man said the rheumatic pains in his arms and shoulders disappeared and now he can raise his arms above his head for the first time in years. He said the pains he used to have from this rheumatism were simply awful. Sometimes his knees and hips were stiff and sore, but the pains were mostly in the back of his neck and across his shoulders. Now, however, his suffering is entirely gone and he says the change is due to taking RHU-AID. "Oh! What relief!", states this man. "Why don't other rheumatic sufferers get RHU-AID?"

RHU-AID is a new formula. It contains Three Great Ingredients, so it is almost like taking three medicines in one. It goes right to the source of rheumatic aches and pains. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering! Get Rhu-Aid. Sold by All Drug Stores here in Bristol. (Advertisement.)

Thomas Alva Edison

HIS GENIUS

SPARKED

A NEW LIGHT ON LIFE

A full century ago—February 11, 1847—Thomas Alva Edison was born. During the years that followed there was destined to be born in the brain of this eager Ohio boy the beginning of many conveniences that add to the enjoyment of living today.

It is fitting that Philadelphia Electric Company, one of the modern concerns carrying on in the tradition of Edison, should join in marking the One Hundredth Anniversary of his birth. It is equally fitting that our customers should be informed on the manner in which the great electric industry, which Edison made possible, has been carried on by those who followed him.

Throughout the years the usefulness of electricity has steadily increased, yet the price has gone constantly downward.

When Edison's incandescent lamp was first made available for public use, the cost of electricity was five to eight times as much as now! By 1930, the cost had decreased considerably, yet it was still nearly twice as much as YOU pay today.

HERE'S THE STORY OF THESE ELECTRICITY PRICE REDUCTIONS IN THE PHILADELPHIA AREA

(average price per kilowatt-hour for residential use)

... 15c-25c in 1885
... 8c-15c in 1910
... 5.8c in 1930 ... 3c TODAY

5TH WARD WINS IN CLOSELY-GUARDED GAME, 35 TO 27

Favorosa Turned the Tide in Last Few Minutes of Play

CLOSE ALL THE WAY

Feature of The Game Was Defensive Work of Massi

In one of the closest guarding games of the season, the Fifth Ward Sportsmen annexed their tenth straight win of the Bristol Youth League last night, subduing the St. Ann's Juniors, 35-27.

It was "Flowers" Favorosa who turned the tide of the game in Fifth Ward's favor during the last few minutes of the tilt. The game was close all the way and at the close of the third session, the score stood, 25-23 with the Warders in front.

St. Ann's tied the score on "Reds" Feele's goal but Favorosa dropped in a foul and followed with a two-pointer to make the count, 28-25. Al Mancini hit the cords for a twin-point and when "Ed" Mazzanti put one in from the midway mark, the score was 32-25. St. Ann's scored two more points on fouls and Favorosa put the game away with three more points.

The feature of the game was the fine defensive work of Joe Massi, guard for the St. Ann's team. Massi stuck to his man, "Vince" DiTanna, like flypaper and succeeded in holding him to a solitary field goal and three fouls. DiTanna until last night had averaged close to 19 points per game.

BUNNIES TO ATTEMPT TO DEFEAT N. J. S. D. HERE

Bristol High will attempt to run its winning streak to nine straight games tonight when it meets the New Jersey School for Deaf on the local court. A preliminary game between the junior varsity teams of the two schools will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

Since its defeat by Trenton Catholic, the Bunnies have scored victories over Bensalem, Langhorne, Temple Hill, Fallington, Morrisville, Hamilton, Buckingham, and Southampton. It meets Trenton Catholic again on Friday night.

The Bunnies have clinched the championship of Lower Bucks County although they were certain to represent the Lower Bucks Schools in the Class A division of the P. I. A. A. tournament. The Class B division is a fight between Morrisville, Bensalem and Langhorne with the Bulldogs being the favorites. The C division is a battle between Falls Township, Southampton and Buckingham.

After tonight, the boys of Coach Fetterman will have but four more games to play, three of which are Lower Bucks County League contests. The Bunnies have won 14 out of 15 games.

There will be no change in the starting five of the locals, they being: "Johnny" Pindar, "Dezzy" DeLise, "Jim" Sottile, "Easy" Mamm, and "Al" Burton.

Council Considers Several Problems Up For Solution

ough solicitor, Mr. Kilcayne, that the only way to handle the problem is through a zoning ordinance. The advisability of having a zoning ordinance was endorsed by Councilman Byers.

Communication was read from P. R. R. Co., in which it acknowledged receipt of a letter from the borough solicitor requesting that grade crossings in the borough be repaired. The Company said that this would be done at the earliest opportunity.

Councilman Fine asked that the borough treasurer be given an opportunity to present his report every month and that this matter of business be assigned a regular place in the order of business of council.

It was voted to transfer the sum of $241 into the water fund. This balance has been carried in another account since WPA days.

The borough budget was placed on second reading and rules of council suspended and the budget adopted. The tax ordinance calling for an increase of three mills in the tax rate was read for the first time and then held over until the March meeting.

It was stated by Councilman Fry that the police are working on temporary police regulations of the parking of automobiles and that a temporary order would soon be issued and the regulations tried out before a definite ordinance was presented for adoption. It will permit two hour parking on portions of Radcliffe, Cedar, Wood, Walnut and Mulberry and Wilson streets and perhaps some others.

It was the opinion of Councilman Pearson that the borough should have a snow plow and clear the main streets of snow. This idea was discussed pro and con but no action taken. In the opinion of a number such an idea is impractical on streets the width of those in Bristol. Council voted to cremate bonds No. 1 to 100 inclusive for $1,900 each.

A communication was received from the police officers of the borough asking for a "substantial increase" in pay. They cited the higher cost of living, the fact that all of the officers have dependents and that many have had to purchase their own houses because of the house shortage. The letter also stated that Bristol police officers are the lowest paid in Bucks county.

The fact that the budget had been adopted, if an increase is given should a similar one be given to all borough employees and other pertinent information was all voiced by councilmen. The request was referred to the Finance Committee.

Council and the Burgess were invited by the Firemen's Parade Committee to attend the next meeting of the committee on Sunday afternoon in No. 6 fire station.

Letter from the State Highway Department advised the borough that all overhead traffic lights are illegal and must be removed within one year from the cessation of hostilities by the United States. Council voted to ask for an extension of time as it is presumed that Pond street, after the new super-highway is opened, will no longer be a state highway and consequently the regulations pertaining to traffic lights on this street will not be in effect.

Borough engineer Roberts estimated it will cost approximately $20,000 to remove the existing lights and replace them with corner standards, two standards at each intersection.

Plumber's bonds for Frank Murphy, Harry Barth, David J. Biles, Albert Gross, George Mesack and Carlo Emideo were approved.

Councilman Winter presented a motion to borrow such funds as are needed to pay the borough's bills until such time as tax moneys are received. The motion carried. He also moved that the borough borrow $6,000 from the Farmers National Bank to be used for the sinking fund.

Councilmen absent were Wichser, Spring, Myers, Foster, Genco and Konkin.

At the intersection of Hill and Gilliam avenues. At this point the main will be reduced to 8 inches. The main will then run from Gilliam avenue North on Hill to its intersection with Richardson avenue.

At Richardson the 8-inch main will run east to Bellevue avenue and connect with the present 6-inch main there. A 6-inch main will continue east on Richardson to Pine street, south on Pine to Flowers avenue, east on Flowers to Cherry street, north on Cherry to tie in with the present main on Maple avenue.

This loop from Richardson around Flowers to Cherry and on to Maple will give service to that area as well as added water supply for emergencies in that area which includes the school.

The main up Gilliam avenue to Richardson will tie in with existing mains on North Bellevue avenue and that will give added service and protection to the business center of Langhorne.

The fact that a 12-inch main is being used will give greater service in that no loss of pressure will be encountered.

Certain portions of the Water Company's improvement program have already been completed.

A 6-inch main is being laid on Pine street in Langhorne Manor as well as an additional fire hydrant.

In Langhorne Manor a 6-inch main is now under construction at North avenue and Elm street. The work is presently being held up by the weather.

Also being projected is the laying of a 10-inch supply main from the impounding dam to the Filtration Plant. The purpose of this is to increase the general efficiency of the service.

At the Filtration Plant two new chemical feeders are due on Feb. 15. The purpose of these is to feed hydrated lime and aluminum sulphate. Heretofore, the alum has been fed in solution form but the new equipment will feed it dry giving greater control over the water's chemical content.
